

The Max Perutz Labs are a research institute established by the University of Vienna and the Medical University of Vienna to provide an environment for excellent, internationally recognized research and education in the field of Molecular Biology. Dedicated to a mechanistic understanding of fundamental biomedical processes, scientists at the Max Perutz Labs aim to link breakthroughs in basic research to advances in human health. The Max Perutz Labs are located at the Vienna BioCenter, one of Europe's hotspots for Life Sciences, and host 45 research groups, involving around 400 scientists and staff from nearly 50 nations.

Currently we are looking for a

Head of Scientific Computing (m/f/x)

(fulltime)

About the position

In this position you will be responsible for

- Analysis of existing compute resources (HPC & Workstations)
- Development of a long-term Scientific Computing concept
- Building a new service unit for the support of scientific research groups from the ground up
- Working on applications for national and international grants with the goal to extend the compute resources at Max Perutz Labs
- Budgeting for and purchasing of all investments and replacements regarding existing compute structures
- Administration and extension of existing high-performance compute clusters and application servers together with the system administrators
- Working closely with the Head of IT and Max Perutz Labs scientists as well as with core facility staff

About your profile

Successful candidates should have

- In-depth experience in IT, especially in working with compute clusters and ideally hold a degree in informatics
- Project management skills, e.g. from working in a service unit
- Work experience in a similar position (ideally)
- Excellent communication and networking skills
- Profound knowledge in high-performance computing
- Basic knowledge in system administration (ideally)
- A reliable, service-oriented, self-organized personality
- The ability to work in a team and heterogenous environments
- Basic knowledge of German language and very good knowledge of English language

About working at the Max Perutz Labs

- diversified tasks in a rapidly changing environment with flat hierarchies
- Home office up to 50%
- Stimulating, supportive, and friendly international environment in which you can further develop your expertise, support for personal development and evolvment
- Parking on campus, very good infrastructure and connections with public transfer

We offer a fulltime position (40 hours/week) with a salary of EUR 3.500,00 gross. Of course, we will offer a market-based overpayment depending on your qualifications.

Application and contact

Please send your application documents (CV, motivation letter, certificates if applicable) and your earliest possible start date to Matthias Bärnthaler: matthias.baernthaler@maxperutzlabs.ac.at.

If you have any questions about the position, please contact Mr. Bärnthaler directly.

A joint venture of

Part of

